Services  For Faculty

Articles
Databases A-Z provides an alphabetized list for all of the databases that the library subscribes to, but if you have a specific article that you want to find, use Citation Linker. Metasearch will allow you to search multiple databases, and create a reading list (My eShelf). This is also available in Oncourse.

Books
IUCAT is the library catalog, which searches for books at all IU campuses. Worldcat is the international cataloging system, which can help in locating a resource outside of our system.

Interlibrary Loan
Requests for books, articles, chapters, or other materials can be submitted online through ILL, or through Article Delivery service. This allows for requests from UL’s print collection delivered to you in electronic form.

Citations
We have copies of the APA, MLA, and Chicago Manual of Style, but there are also many online resources that are helpful when citing. Also, EndNote and Zotero are two citation tools that can help in creating and organizing your resources as you research and write. Links are located on the library website.
